UNGS 2050  Ethics and Fiqh for Everyday Life
This course consists of two parts: Islamic ethics and fiqh for everyday life. The Major theme of this course is to show the importance and the role of ethics and fiqh in the daily life of Muslims. The main issues to be focused on in the first part of this course include the main Islamic ethical concepts, Islamic values and ethics for different professions, inter-personal ethics. The main issues in the second part include a general view on Islamic fiqh and its schools, sharī‘ah criteria for measurement of human needs and actions, major bio-ethical issues in medicine, and family ethics in Islam. (Pre-requisite: UNGS 2040)